EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 20

Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The Supreme Court unanimously allowed the withdrawal of the Legal Tender cases and to-day will hear the argument in the remaining one, Hepburn vs. Griswold, as the decision therein remains as heretofore. Chief Justice Chase announced that the Supreme Court will adjourn for the term on the 30th of April.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Beaman, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Post Office Appropriation bill. It appropriates $11,000,000 in Post Office revenue and [illegible] out of the Treasury.

Sargent offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Coinage to inquire into the expediency of directing the issue of a new silver coin of the current value of 20 cents. Adopted.

Paine introduced a bill to reduce duties on imports; referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. It provides for a reduction of ten per cent after the 30th of June next on all imports into the United States except spirituous or malt liquors, wine, tobacco, cigars and snuff.

The House then proceeded to vote on the resolution to admit J. H. Sypher to a seat from the 1st Congressional district of Louisiana. Yeas 78, nays [illegible]. Sypher came forward to take the oath. Mr. Brooks objected on the ground that he was a resident of Pennsylvania. The objection was overruled by the Speaker under action of the House. A reconsideration of the vote was moved and agreed to by 85 to 79, which brought the original resolution before the House. Fitch then offered a substitute declaring that no valid election had been held in the 1st Congressional district of Louisiana and that neither Sypher nor Martin were entitled to a seat. Motion to table the substitute was lost by 100 to 69. Resolution as amended was then adopted.

The Senate substitute to the Census bill was non concurred in by the House and went into a committee of conference.

The Senate substitute to the Georgia bill came up. Butler moved its reference to the Reconstruction Committee with the substitutes offered by Logan and Ingersoll. Logan's substitute as agreed upon between him and Bingham, provides that the election of members of the Legislature of Georgia shall be held in 1870 as provided for by the constitution of the State adopted in 1869. The second section declares the State entitled to representation in Congress. The bill and the substitute were referred.

The subject of the mail steamship service between San Francisco and Australia was discussed and whether the consideration of postage or commercial importance of the enterprise should take precedence in referring the bill. Cassely gave notice of his intention to move for a joint committee.

The Senate took up the Northern Pacific Railroad bill. The amendment of Harlan to strike out additional land grant allowing the company to make up the present deficiency from sections on each side of the road for ten miles beyond the present limits, was discussed. It was agreed that the bill should be disposed of to-morrow evening.

[illegible] Monday, April [illegible]

United States vs. Edward Matheit. Indictment for carrying on the business of a distiller without paying the special tax or giving bond.

The Act of Congress of July 20, 1868, Sec. 44, provides:

That any person who shall carry on the business of a distiller * * * without having paid the special tax as required by law, or who shall carry on the business of a distiller without having given bond as required by law * * * shall for every such offence be fined not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 and imprisoned not less than six months nor more than two years.

On February 7, 1870, the Grand Jury of this District found an indictment against the defendant, Edward Matheit, of Marion county, for violation of the above section. The indictment contains two counts. By the first the defendant is accused of carrying on the business of a distiller at [illegible] between May 1, 1869, and February 14, 1870, without having paid the special tax therefor, and by the second with carrying on such business between the dates aforesaid continuously without having given the bond therefor as required by law.

The defendant demurred to the indictment for that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action against him, and did not state facts sufficient to constitute a crime. In support of the demurrer counsel for the defendant argued that Section 44 was not applicable, merely to distilling, but only where a party had registered his still and given notice of his intention to engage in the business and then did so without paying the tax or giving the bond. Upon this construction of the act and the fact that the indictment did not state that the defendant had registered and given notice of his intention to distil, it was claimed that the indictment was insufficient. The court overruled the demurrer and the defendant pleaded "Not guilty."

Section 59 of the Act defines a distiller in these words:

"Every person who produces distilled spirits, or who brews or who makes mash, wort or wash fit for distillation or the production of spirits, or who by any process of vaporization separates alcoholic spirit from any fermented substance, or who making or keeping mash, wort or wash, has also in his possession or use a still, shall be regarded as a distiller."

If a person who does any of these acts is to be regarded as a distiller, it is too plain for argument that for the time being he must be regarded as being engaged in the business of a distiller and in violation of section 44, unless he has paid the special tax and given the bond. And this must be so whether he has registered and given notice of his intention to distill or not. The neglect to perform these mere preliminary and precautionary conditions does not purchase immunity from the weightier matters of the law—the obligation to pay the tax and give the bond. To support the charge of violating section 44, it is not necessary to aver or prove that the accused had registered his still or given notice of his intention to distil, but only that he was engaged in the business of a distiller in any of the ways or by any of the means specified in the foregoing definition of a distiller without having paid the special tax or given bond as required by law.

On Friday, March 18, the issue was tried before a jury who found the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and recommended him to the mercy of the court.

On March 21 the defendant filed a motion for a new trial which was afterwards argued by counsel and reserved by the court for decision. The grounds of the motion are substantially that the verdict is contrary to law and the evidence and not warranted by either, and that the court misdirected the jury.

It appears from the evidence that the defendant and his father, quite an aged man, lived together on a farm in the immediate vicinity of Butteville, in the county and district aforesaid, upon which among other things they had planted and cultivated a vineyard. On the premises there was a small building [illegible] the side of a hill. The lower room was partly underground and opened out on the [illegible] side of the hill, and at the date of the indictment and for near a year previous was used as a wagon room for wines and spirits. The upper room was used as a distillery and [illegible] there [illegible] and some wash tub and the like.

In December, 1868, the defendant (by Form 6) registered the still in question to be used and set up therein, that it was set up near Butteville, and that Edward Matheit was the owner of the same, that its cubic contents were 15 gallons, and that it was to be used to make grape brandy, and on March 10, 1869, he gave notice by Form 27 of his intention to engage in the business of distilling brandy from apples and grapes in the building owned by himself near the village of Butteville with one copper still 12 inches in diameter and 26 inches high, containing 13.07 gallons, and also some tubs containing in all 68.75 gallons of fermenting material—grapes and apple pumice, and that the premises on which the distillery were situate were owned by him. The defendant then paid the special tax and gave bond as a distiller for the remaining portion of the revenue year 1868, which expired on the last of April, 1869. No notice of change of ownership or [illegible] was given to the Assessor after that, nor did any one pay any special tax or give any bond on account of [illegible] with the still and apparatus thereafter. About February [illegible] or seized the distillery and apparatus and turned them over to the Marshal to be proceeded against as forfeited in this court. A judgment of condemnation has since been given against the property on default [illegible] together with [illegible] gallons of wine and 212 gallons [illegible] seized on the premises at the same time. Among the packages of distilled spirits was one containing 22 wine gallons which had been gauged and stamped for the defendant by Kilbourne, gauger of the district, in July 1869, at which time the defendant told the gauger that he had no other spirits that needed stamping. The unstamped spirits were in four or five packages and were 10 or 11 per cent below proof, or about one third in volume of alcohol [illegible] proof spirits [illegible]

In the argument of this motion it was not denied that the proof was insufficient to warrant the jury in coming to the conclusion that between the dates named in the indictment there had been spirits distilled on the premises in violation of law. Upon this point the proof was ample and the jury could not have found otherwise than as they did. The simple fact of unstamped spirits being found on the premises unexplained was of itself sufficient to justify the verdict on this particular [illegible] the defendant in July 1869 that he had then no other unstamped spirits [illegible] the direct testimony of three unobjectionable witnesses [illegible] [illegible] December saw the defendant [illegible] engaged in the room with the still [illegible] and under such circumstances that [illegible] was [illegible] fact and apparent to the [illegible] [illegible] engaged in distilling.

But no witness testified that he ever saw the defendant personally engaged in [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] argument for a new trial rests.

It is claimed that the proof was insufficient to connect the defendant with the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] instructing the jury [illegible] they are warranted in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the action of the jury under [illegible] [illegible] fully state the circumstances [illegible]

As late as March 1, 1869, the defendant in his own signature claimed to be the owner of the still [illegible] He paid the special tax and gave the bond and operated as his own until May 1 of that year. We find him on the premises with the gauger in July 1869 acting as proprietor, and during the [illegible] [illegible] spirits he had [illegible] filled in March and April before. No evidence of any change of ownership is produced nor of any change of circumstances of the party with reference to the property or his location or employment from which such change of ownership could be inferred. The defendant and his father continue to reside together and the [illegible] [illegible] or about the premises [illegible] working on the farm. He employs Higgins [illegible] grubbing on the farm. He also employs [illegible] gathering grapes and is in the wine cellar with him. In short, he appears to be the active managing man of the place while the old man remains in doors and runs the still. No notice of change of ownership of the still was given to the assessor by any one. True the failure to give this notice, although a penalty is thereby incurred, should not preclude the defendant in this action from showing the fact of such change, and the jury from so finding if the evidence is sufficient, and so the court held and instructed the jury.

Besides these general considerations there are some special circumstances disclosed by the testimony of the gauger and deputy assessor which tend to show that no change had taken place in the ownership of the property and that the defendant was really engaged in operating the still.

Mellen, the deputy assessor for the division wherein the distillery was situated, testified that in pursuance of instructions from the assessor for the district Mr. Fraser, he visited the distillery in question on February 14, 1870. First went to the dwelling house near by, where the defendant and his father were living together. After taking defendant's income return he and defendant walked out to the distillery together. Went into the lower room or cellar and tapped on some casks and asked defendant what was in them. Defendant answered wine. Mellen replied that he had come to look after the distillery and must examine the casks, and then did so and found six casks to contain distilled spirits, apple or grape brandy—the same that was afterwards seized and condemned as above stated. Deputy then said to defendant, thought he had got into a bad scrape, and had better go to Mr. Fraser's office in Portland and see what could be done. Defendant said he would go in a day or two. Mellen said better go and lock up the room, and they both came down to the Assessor's office at Portland on the next day. While at the distillery the defendant said that he distilled those spirits under the old law. At Portland, after it was ascertained that the law must take its course, Mellen said to defendant that he ought to have had the spirits stamped when Kilbourne was up at the distillery, and then the defendant replied that they had been distilled within a month or six weeks. Upon cross examination this witness became embarrassed and was unable to give with any certainty the time and place of the last statement attributed to defendant and altogether his manner and conduct upon this point was such as justly to subject his testimony to criticism. But I am not prepared to affirm by any means what counsel so vehemently urged upon the jury that on this account the witness ought not to be believed. And whether he should be or not and how far he was discredited in this way the jury were the judges. Yet I will take the liberty of suggesting that when a revenue officer is charged with so important matter as this, he ought to observe correctly and be able to testify upon the stand and testify concerning it distinctly, giving time and place to all material circumstances and particularly to conversations with the parties accused of interest.

Kilbourne testified that in July, 1869, he inspected and stamped the spirits on the premises for the defendant which were evidently there distilled by him on March and April, 1869. Kilbourne did not inspect or stamp any more spirits on or at these premises until the seizure above mentioned. In the fall of 1869, perhaps the last of October, the defendant met Kilbourne in Portland, when the latter asked the former about his distillery. Defendant said he had not commenced distilling, and asked whether there had been any change of the law, to which Kilbourne replied that he did not know and that defendant had better enquire at the Assessor's office. Again when defendant came to Portland with Mellen in February, Kilbourne asked him and asked him if he was going to distil or when he got through. Defendant answered that he had got through. Kilbourne replied "I will have to go up then soon (meaning to distillery) to inspect and stamp spirits." Defendant said yes, and asked if he [illegible] still last year. Kilbourne replied yes. Defendant then said that he had got into trouble.

Thus wherever we find the defendant, or with whomsoever conversing, he speaks and acts as if the distillery was his, and under his direction. The second conversation between him and Kilbourne occurred the day after the alleged visit to the distillery when the defendant knew that he was in trouble and practically accused of the very crime of which he has been found guilty. It never occurred to him then nor at any other time that we know of, until on this trial, to claim that he was not the owner and operator of this still. On the other hand if the property had been sold or transferred to his father or his father was engaged in running the distillery without the defendant's authority or consent and not for his benefit, there is evidence of the fact and the defendant should produce it. It is a presumption of law, which the jury were bound to act, that when the ownership of property is shown to be in a particular person it continues to be so until the contrary appears.

The father was present at the trial and was referred to by counsel for defendant as the party who had really done this illegal distilling. If so why not call him as a witness. Under the Act of Congress of February 25, 1868, 15 Stat. at large, [illegible] he could have been compelled to testify as to the matter and his evidence could not have been used against him in any prosecution against himself. The omission to do this is itself sufficient to warrant the jury in presuming that no change of ownership or management had taken place, and that the defendant was really engaged in the business [illegible] and employing his father to personally attend to the still for him. Upon this question Mellen's testimony may be laid aside, and still upon the facts the jury could not have come to any other conclusion than they did.

Nor was this question withdrawn from the jury by the instructions of the court. For while they were instructed that the ownership of the property was presumed to continue in the defendant until the contrary appeared, and that under the circumstances—the proof—they were warranted in finding that the premises and still continued to be the property of the defendant as stated by him to the Assessor, they were also instructed that in subordination to the presumption of law just stated they must determine the question for themselves.

But it is said that while the instruction did not profess to withdraw the question from the jury that as a matter of fact it was well calculated to and possibly the jury may have mistaken the purport of it and assumed without enquiry that the ownership of the property was in the defendant as a matter of law. I think this is a very improbable supposition entirely too speculative to disturb the verdict of a jury upon. But if it were otherwise, as the verdict is undoubtedly correct, both upon law and evidence it must stand. A correct verdict will not be set aside on account of error [illegible] supposed in the process or manner by which it has been obtained. DEADY, J.

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 22 1870

Respectable Backing

Throughout the Union the Democratic party has taken a stand in favor of free trade. There are exceptions in some Democratic States as in Pennsylvania where great industrial interests require them to pursue a different course In Oregon there are few manufacturing establishments and the subject has not been brought directly home to the people Nevertheless the policy which that party advocates would destroy what manufactures we have, (including Mr. Grover's establishment at Salem), and make it impossible to build up a system of diversified industry, which is the leading want of our State

The first Congress that assembled under our Federal Constitution, passed an act for the protection and encouragement of domestic manufactures The necessity of such a policy is affirmed and urged in the messages of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, J Q Adams and Jackson The policy that existed under the old Confederation, by which our country, under the principle of absolute free trade, had been inundated with foreign fabrics which deprived our artisans of employment and subsistence, was remembered and avoided. The inability of the Confederation to levy duties without the express concurrence of all the States was one of the prime incitements to the more intimate union established by the present Constitution Secretary Hamilton (Secretary of the Treasury under Washington), in his Report on Manufactures in 1790 ably set forth the advantages and necessity of having a tariff which would discriminate in favor of American products. This report was explicitly sanctioned by President Washington, and Congress took action in accordance with its recommendation. Mr. Jefferson while Secretary of State in 1793 forcibly set forth the necessity of such discriminations in favor of domestic industry as would countervail the restrictive tariffs of other nations by which our own staples were injuriously affected Again, as President, Mr. Jefferson repeated his argument and enforced his suggestions in favor of protecting and developing American industry. Mr. Madison's course was similar. The policy of Gen. Jackson on this subject accorded with that of his great predecessors So it will be seen that the policy which the illustrious men of the Democratic party of Oregon condemn in their platform has had in its time some very respectable backing

Nothing but the policy of a scale of duties discriminating in favor of American manufactures, and making all our older and greater States a busy hive of industry, enabled the country to endure the tremendous strain of the late war. Nothing but this policy has carried it safely through the period of reaction which always follows so tremendous a struggle. The Republican platform of Oregon accords in this particular with the policy which has built up the prosperity of the country, and which will still further develop it, beyond all calculation

A Diversion Attempted

A portion of the opposition press, sick of the discussion of the "vital eighth resolution," is making an attempt, which is feeble enough, to create a diversion by talking of the last Legislature and its inglorious termination. That cash in the State Treasury, which hadn't been thought of for a whole year, is again becoming an object of solicitude. Now the least said by the opposition on this subject, the better it will be for them. The people already understand this subject very well. They know that it was entirely the fault of the Democratic majority, which was supreme in both branches of the Legislature, that the appropriation bill was not passed. They know that the Republican minority, for three days, importuned for the passage of the bill, but without avail, and that the Democratic majority frittered away the time with senseless, bitter and vindictive party projects. They know that no Legislature ever assembled in Oregon whose proceedings were characterized by such extremes of [illegible] and outrage. All these things have been discussed repeatedly, and the people are perfectly aware of them But perhaps it is but natural that the Democratic press should try to find refuge from the repudiation resolution of their platform, even if they have to look for such refuge in a place where they know they can't find it.

The Case of Georgia.

Every one of the late seceding States, with the exception of Georgia, is now restored to harmonious relations with the Government of the Union. All of them, with this one exception, are now performing fully their own functions But for the mad and reactionary spirit exhibited by the ex-rebel element of Georgia, that State also would be restored, and the machinery of government would be working smoothly there, as elsewhere It will be remembered that the reactionary element of Georgia, supposing they had everything their own way and that the Government of the United States no longer had any power to check their outrages, trampled upon the Constitution they had themselves adopted and attempted by forcible means to wrest the State government from the hands of those to whom it had been intrusted by a majority of the people. But they were too hasty Georgia had not yet fully gone through the process of reconstruction, and its affairs had not been given up to the control of the local authorities. Congress therefore undertook the case again, and the "unreconstructed element" are now paying for their violence and folly.

Republican Primaries

The Republican primary meetings in this county will be held on Saturday afternoon It is probable that they will be pretty warmly contested by the rival candidates, especially for the office of Sheriff, but it is gratifying that there are no indications of any inharmonious feeling on the subject We feel assured that men will be selected for delegates who will nominate a ticket worthy of general support With such a ticket there will be general and perfect acquiescence But to insure this result the primaries must be conducted on principles of fairness Our political opponents may desire to interest themselves in them, but their services may very properly be dispensed with Let the primaries be conducted decently and in order and if any person proposes to take an undue advantage, or to introduce any element of discord, let him know that he will not receive the countenance or support of the party

Editorial Notes

Recent dispatches indicate that trouble may again ensue with the Indians on the plains and that an expensive war may be the result More than one half of the annual expenses of the War Department may be set down to the account of Indian disturbances

It is said that Gov Haight of California will come to Oregon to help the Democracy in the canvass His strong point is the Chinaman As his principal national reputation is a [illegible] with this estimable class of people it is supposed that he will be welcomed here with a banquet prepared especially for the occasion by the Chinese companies and presided over by one of Judge McCoy's principal clients.

The [illegible] man says an opposition paper mistakes the motive of Georgia or misinterprets her feeling when she submits to negro suffrage and votes for constitutional amendments Let no man imagine that such actions are the result of her own inclinations Probably not Nor we believe was the submission of Georgia to national authority which followed soon after the "march to the sea," the result of her own inclinations

One E. Cranston, of Marion county, who claims to have been a Republican has written a couple of letters to Grover's organ at Salem In the first letter he expresses great fear, in fact the most terrible alarm, lest the Chinese may overrun America In the second letter he kindly relieves our fears by assuring us that "the Chinese can never compete with Caucasian" If Mr Cranston is a convert to Democracy, we can only wonder that he was ever a Republican

In spite of all assaults by factionists upon President Grant, his Administration at this moment stands higher in the esteem of people of all classes than ever before. Demagogues may think to deceive, but the people recognize in President Grant's Administration the great power which has restored peace and harmony and placed the country on the high road to prosperity Were the election of a President to take place now, Gen Grant would go in again by a larger vote than before, and if he lives there is no power that can prevent his re-election in 1872.

We always did admire intelligent journalism. And when our Democratic neighbor says that "another 'carpet-bagger,' the loyal Senator Bullock, has been bribing his fellow Senators to vote against Bingham's amendment to the Georgia bill," our admiration is wrought up to an unusually high pitch. Of course everybody knows that Bullock is not a Senator at all, but Governor of Georgia, but then the Herald should not be held to account for not knowing anything about the trifling circumstances or supposed facts on which it bases its leading articles.

STORY OF A POLK COUNTY LABORER The following statement of Mr Osborn is published in the Oregon Statesman of yesterday

Mr [illegible] I want to furnish you with particulars of some matters in which the public are interested and which can be established by the best of witnesses

On the 14th of February I was employed by Watkinds & Co to [illegible] There were several of us all hired to do the same work, with the understanding that we should vote for the nominated Democratic ticket for Legislature in Polk county Watkinds said he didn't care how we voted for anything else

We were to have one dollar a cord for cutting wood and it was to be paid as fast as the work was done Delaney was somehow engaged to buy the wood and [illegible] of Falls was to provide us with work Being disposed to vote the Democratic ticket and work being hard to find with [illegible] pay, we of course had no objection to working and voting in Polk county and seven of us went to work as above stated with Bill Pettyjohn as a sort of general agent of our enterprise

Up to the present time we have cut over a hundred cords of wood and have not received the promised pay nothing, in fact some trouble to get grub to eat Becoming dissatisfied with poor pay and delay in furnishing us work we concluded—four of us about a week ago that they couldn't or wouldn't make their words good, and came to Watkinds at Salem who made such fair promises that we concluded to go back to work

None of these promises have been kept they failed to furnish us a boat to bring down the wood, and it seems probable that some of the wood was cut on other people's land All things considered, the four alluded to left that good Democratic job and concluded to look for work elsewhere, though we were told that we should be published in all the newspapers and that we could not earn a dollar, as the Democrats wouldn't have anything to do with us and the Republicans wouldn't have any faith in us But we left there to-day and as I was obliged to go back with a team for some things, when coming away again I was attacked by Pettyjohn who threw stones or clods at me striking me on the back and head, so that I was considerably bruised

One of the men was named Rankin he was induced to open a saloon for sale of liquor, as he says Bill Watkinds promised him to employ only whisky drinkers and he was to sell them whisky and get all their cash But the men didn't prove heavy on the drink, and Rankin had to close out business He stood by and saw Pettyjohn throw at me as above stated

I might tell all the big things promised to the men employed what Pettyjohn expects and what Rankin is to get when Grover is elected but that would fill your paper with useless trash I have had enough of Bill Watkinds's kind of Democracy made up of promises and bilks and if others like it better they are welcome to it

Bill Watkinds [This name should be Pettyjohn —ED] has several men left and he may manage to keep them there awhile on the strength of his offer to mortgage his team and wagon to them as security for the work he wants them to do

The Retort Courteous

On last Tuesday we noticed several Indians in town As they were looking after the Register we are of the opinion that they must be some of the majority the Radicals speak of when claiming that they will carry the State

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The above extract we clip from the 7 by 9 sheet published at La Grande Oregon, calling itself Mountain Democrat, and of date April 9 1870

For the edification of that paper and its party, we will inform them that the Indians referred to were in pursuit of three Democrats—horse thieves That two of said Indians found said Democrats with their horses and arrested them—brought them to Baker City where they have been confined in jail for several days and that to-day they were taken by the Democratic Sheriff of the Democratic county of Umatilla for trial—thus reducing the Democratic (?) vote of this State three at the ensuing election—provided, always, that they get their just deserts on a trial for their crimes

How is that "for high," Mr Mountain Democrat

CITY.

THE FAST [illegible] There is in this coun[illegible] [illegible] We shall [illegible] are a dear [illegible] this a statement but [illegible] enter into details [illegible] Land Labor [illegible] to the subject [illegible] delinquent which [illegible] change where names [illegible] much complaint once [illegible] eastern Oregon and Idaho the [illegible] from eastern [illegible] the valuable trade of that country we are losing [illegible] value to us A trade which [illegible] better from [illegible] which we [illegible] business men of Portland [illegible] active and energetic [illegible] Mr Marsh Millard [illegible] and the Central [illegible] to San Francisco [illegible] R R Co in their Pacific Railroad [illegible] and such arrangements [illegible] through tickets [illegible] from San Francisco to New York at about the same rates our passenger can buy a ticket [illegible] by the Columbia river route [illegible] Why is this? Simply because here every man does business on his own account There is no concert of action [illegible] this is why the trade of Idaho is being lost to us There is no kind of use to try disguise the fact The O S N Comp[illegible] cannot be blamed for it The Road and Bridge Company cannot be censured They have each done [illegible] so to speak Now for the [illegible] level best The old hobby of 1866 is [illegible] vious question The Board of Trade in Portland [illegible] cannot [illegible] idea of being a commercial [illegible] give up the [illegible] Newspaper men may write them [illegible] community [illegible] cannot build up a trade unless [illegible] and they [illegible] the community take [illegible] and assist Who that has [illegible] of the [illegible] sufficient to have learned this [illegible] observant [illegible] The files of this paper will show columns of [illegible] written in the defense of this community to [illegible] on the part of the trade. What [illegible] man of business is there here that does not know that the Philadelphia or Boston, or New York Boards of Trade control in a great measure, the entire business of [illegible] of those cities. The [illegible] paragraph will be read in [illegible] different [illegible] this morning yet what weight has it [illegible] to what it would have if it were presented to the same public through an [illegible] Board of Trade? If we were to ask a favor of Congress what Senator or Representative would give this newspaper paragraph the attention that would likely to be [illegible] upon the same matter in the form of a resolution or memorial from the Board of Trade? If we wish to do anything different from the present hap hazard way of transacting business, it is time that some [illegible] adopted for having a Board of Trade [illegible] in Portland If the business men of the city will second our movement let them issue a call, which we will publish cheerfully for a meeting to [illegible] Until this is done do not ask us, under any circumstances to puff or blow this or that [illegible] of how to retain our present status as a community of business men

MAN BURIED About three o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr Wm Depenning, living at the corner of Morrison and Twelfth streets, while at work in a shaft which was being sunk on the lot occupied by Messrs. T. M. Richardson & Co's brick yard, on Yamhill street, near Fifth, was buried by a slide in the wall of the pit. Alarm was immediately given by the [illegible] and other workmen [illegible] to his relief Almost simultaneously with reaching the unfortunate man, a fresh slide again [illegible] him, and this occurred a second and a third time, until it became absolutely dangerous for men to remain in the shaft, but the [illegible] worked heroically, and about five o'clock P. M. the body was recovered, but, of course, life was gone. The remains were taken to the [illegible] house and the body properly laid out for burial to-day We visited the scene of this calamity about six o'clock last evening, and found it to be a very sad one. Mr Depenning leaves a wife and six children, [illegible] of them of age sufficient to render the family assistance. The widow has not a relative in this country, and this is a circumstance which leads us to appeal to the public to assist her in this her time of trouble. Mr. Depenning was an honest, hard working man, but had been out of employ [illegible] When he began work for [illegible] & Co., he was [illegible] very happy in the thought that he would be successful in retaining his place [illegible] Little did he, or [illegible] so unhappy by this [illegible] was in store for them when they parted [illegible] after the noon [illegible] Verily life is but a brittle thread

THE FESTIVAL.—Oro Fino Th[illegible] was crowded with a fashionable audience last night [illegible] evening for the benefit of a fund for charitable [illegible] to be used by the Trustees of Trinity Parish. After some music by the [illegible], Rev. Geo. John McCraken appeared before the curtain and explained the entertainment which was to consist of tableaux, [illegible] The first tableaux [illegible] some well-known [illegible] of Thespian notions and the [illegible] sweet terrestrial angels, and "Aurora and the Gods of Morning) driving away night" The auditorium proper was occupied by [illegible] while the rear of the theater was set apart for the [illegible] containing elegant wares, which were [illegible] by lovely and beautiful [illegible], who had a way of delightfully [illegible] "approached their purchase." A whole [illegible] went off in the very best [illegible], and we are [illegible] that everyone present was pleased and [illegible] have the opportunity to give [illegible] We would like to have the [illegible] repeated

RETURN OF THE EXCURSION.—The [illegible] who went over to the Territorial Convention at Vancouver on the Carrie returned about 12 o'clock last night We learn that a very enthusiastic ratification meeting was held in the [illegible] at which speeches were made by a number [illegible] all parts of the Territory and pledging the re-election of Mr. Garfielde by a larger majority than last year. A resolution was adopted unanimously [illegible] On the arrival of the [illegible] in a body, [illegible] by the [illegible] Band and [illegible] giving three hearty cheers another three for the [illegible] of the Republican party here and in Washington

A NEW WHARF Messrs [illegible] have just finished a wharf which, to view it from [illegible] standpoint looks like [illegible] The [illegible] wharf is on a level with Front street, the warehouse on the one side is 140 feet by 45 and [illegible] all 60x40 We have attempted to [illegible] the owners several times and thus far have only been able to learn that this new wharf is calculated for use for the next Fourth of July [illegible] Portland. It is a gay place for a [illegible] if the [illegible] is large Four hundred feet is to be [illegible] to the present dimensions this [illegible]

THE CHAMPION LOST.—Capt Dodge, lost in the schooner [illegible] was a [illegible] man, and will be greatly missed in this part of Oregon Mr H Stevens is the youngest son in a family of nine children and is the first one lost out of the family His death has cast a gloom over Astoria where he was universally regarded as a very estimable young man The Champion was about a [illegible] ton schooner built in 1868 or [illegible] by Capt Quinn for the Tillamook trade, but was recently purchased by Capt Dodge of Yaquina

CONCLUDED TO-DAY The ladies having charge of the festival given at Oro Fino Theater last evening propose giving a lunch to-day from the hour of 12 o'clock till 3 P M They will [illegible] their patrons [illegible] evening. It was remarked by [illegible] the committee exemplified good judgment in procuring the place they did for this festival as very much more adapted to the purpose and [illegible] calculated to accommodate the large attendance

[illegible] A dray horse belonging to [illegible] ran away yesterday and in his efforts [illegible] things generally was broken down While in this situation, he [illegible] was entangled in the harness and it became necessary to take off the bridle and before it could be again put on the animal was up and dashed away at full speed and about the [illegible] completely demolishing the dray before he was stopped

CONDOLATORY We regret that we have not time nor space to-day [illegible] of our contemporary [illegible] upon Jim [illegible] his grief must be deep What a misfortune [illegible] that old house has finally [illegible] passed out of the street He can make no more items about that building We [illegible] his great distress

DEATH The store of Messrs L. White & Bro was closed at 1 o'clock P M yesterday, and crape attached to the door which was occasioned by the death of a little son of Mr L. White of San Francisco [illegible] with the family on a visit Can anything be more true than "that in the [illegible] of life we are in death"

CITY.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.—There is in this community a class of persons, "men of means," who are a detriment to the public good. We shall not enter into details to prove this statement, but refer to the subscription list of the Portland Labor Exchange, where names appear delinquent which at once point to the reason why so much complaint reaches us from eastern Oregon and Idaho that we are losing the valuable trade of that country. A trade which is of incomparable value to us, and which, we understand from a plain letter from an able and energetic business man of Portland, Mr. Marsh Millard, is rapidly leaving us, and going to San Francisco via Kelton and the Central Pacific Railroad. The C. P. R. R. Co. in their arrangements with the U. P. R. R. Co., and eastern lines, are enabled to grant through tickets from San Francisco to New York at about the [illegible] passenger can buy a ticket when [illegible] Kelton by the Columbia river route. Why is this? Simply because: here every man [illegible] on his own account. There is no [illegible] action. And this is why the trade of Idaho is being lost to us. There is no kind of [illegible] to disguise the fact. The O. S. N. Company is to be blamed for it. The Road and Bridge [illegible] be censured. They have each done [illegible] "so to speak. Now for the proper [illegible]. The old hobby of 1866—if we [illegible] maintain a Board of Trade in Portland let [illegible] the whole idea of being a commercial [illegible]. Newspaper men may write themselves blind, and they cannot build up a trade, [illegible] community, unless the community take hold of the matter and assist. Who that has [illegible] observation sufficient to have learned this? [illegible] of this paper will show columns of matter [illegible] in the defense of this community, to one [illegible] action on the part of the trade. What [illegible] are there here that does not know that the Philadelphia, or Boston, or New York [illegible] of Trade, control, in a great measure, the [illegible] of those cities. This [illegible] will be read in 3,000 different places [illegible] what weight has it in pro[illegible] it would have, if it were presented to [illegible] through an established Board of [illegible]. If we wish to ask a favor of Congress [illegible] or Representative would give this [illegible] the attention that would be [illegible] bestowed upon the same matter in [illegible] petition or memorial from the [illegible]. If we wish to do anything different [illegible] the present hap-hazard way of transacting [illegible], it is time that some measure was [illegible] for having a Board of Trade established [illegible]. If the business men of the city will [illegible] then issue a call, which [illegible] for a meeting to organize [illegible] do not ask us, under [illegible] to puff or blow this or that [illegible] our present status as a community [illegible].

[illegible] About three o'clock yesterday [illegible] Depenning, living at the [illegible] Harrison and Twelfth streets, while at [illegible] which was being sunk on the [illegible] by Messrs. T. M. Richardson & [illegible] on Yamhill street, near Fifteenth, [illegible] by a slide in the wall of the [illegible] alarm was directly given by the [illegible] and other workmen went immediately [illegible]. Almost simultaneously with [illegible] unfortunate man, a fresh slide again [illegible] occurred, a second and a [illegible] it was absolutely dangerous [illegible] in the shaft, but the laborers [illegible] and about five o'clock [illegible] recovered, but, of course, [illegible] were taken to the [illegible] and the body properly laid out for [illegible]. We visited the scene of [illegible] last evening, and [illegible] a very sad case. Mr. Depenning [illegible] of them are [illegible] the family assistance. [illegible] in this country, and [illegible] which lead us to appeal to [illegible] in this hot time of trouble. [illegible] an honest, hard working [illegible] out of employment for some [illegible] work for Messrs. Richardson [illegible] happy in the thought [illegible] in retaining his place [illegible] or those six little [illegible] by this event, think what [illegible] when they parted so pleasantly [illegible] yesterday. Verily, [illegible] thread.

[illegible]—Oro Fino Theater was crowded [illegible] last night, to enjoy [illegible] of a fund for charitable [illegible] by the Trustees of Trinity [illegible]. After some music by the orchestra [illegible] appeared before the [illegible] the entertainment which [illegible] tableaux, songs, supper, etc. [illegible] some well-known amateur [illegible] and the succeeding ones [illegible] celestial angels, and "Aurora [illegible] driving away night." [illegible] proper was occupied by seats, [illegible] of the theater was set apart for the [illegible] elegant wares, which were sold [illegible] saleswomen, who had a [illegible] by magnetizing coin out of those [illegible] their presence." The whole affair [illegible] manner, and we are [illegible] was pleased, and glad [illegible] to give money for a charity [illegible]. We would like to have the enter[illegible]

[illegible] EXCURSION.—The delegates [illegible] in the Territorial Convention at [illegible] the Carrie, returned about 12 [illegible] night. We learn that a very enthu[illegible] meeting was held in the evening [illegible] speeches were made by a number [illegible] parts of the Territory and pledging [illegible] of Mr. Garfielde by a larger [illegible] last year. A resolution was [illegible] condemning repudiation in [illegible]. On the arrival of the boat, the delegation [illegible] in a body, accompanied by the 23d [illegible] and serenaded the OREGONIAN, [illegible] hearty cheers, another three for [illegible] the Republican party here and in [illegible]

NEW WHARF. Messrs. Estes & Stimson have [illegible] wharf, which, to view it from an [illegible] looks like business. This [illegible] with Front street; the [illegible] side is 140 feet by 45; and [illegible]. We have attempted to "interview" [illegible] several times, and thus far have only [illegible] that this new wharf is calculated [illegible] for the next Fourth of July dinner in [illegible] a gay place for a dinner, if the [illegible] four hundred feet is to be [illegible] present dimensions this summer.

[illegible]—Capt. Dodge, lost in the [illegible] Champion, was a representative [illegible] will be greatly missed in his part of [illegible]. Mr. D. Stevens is the youngest son in a family of nine children, and is the first one lost out of the family. His death has cast a gloom over Astoria, where he was universally regarded [illegible] valuable young man. The Champion [illegible] ton schooner, built in 1865 or '66, [illegible] for the Tillamook trade, but was [illegible] by Capt. Dodge of Yaquina [illegible]

[illegible] TO-DAY.—The ladies having [illegible] festival given at Oro Fino Theater, [illegible] evening, propose giving a lunch to-day from [illegible] 12 o'clock till 2 P. M. They will un[illegible] do their utmost to please their patrons [illegible] all were pleased last evening. It was [illegible] by several that the committee exercised [illegible] judgment in procuring the place they did [illegible] the festival, as very much more adapted to [illegible], and better calculated to accommodate [illegible] the large attendance.

SHAKE UP.—A dray horse baulked on the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf yesterday, and in his efforts to do things [illegible] was thrown down. While [illegible] the horse was entangled in the [illegible], and it became necessary to take off the bridle, and before it could be again put on, the animal was up and dashed away at full speed in and about the wharf, completely demolishing the dray before he was quieted.

COMMENDATORY.—We regret that we have not the time nor space to devote to a few words in condolence [illegible] of our cotemporary, "Grasshopper Jim." Poor fellow; his grief must be deep. What a [illegible] it is that that old house has finally [illegible] out of the street. He can make [illegible] "about that buildin'." We grieve at [illegible]

[illegible]—The store of Messrs. L. White & Bro [illegible] at 11 o'clock A. M. yesterday, and [illegible] attached to the door, which was occasioned [illegible] of a little son of Mr. L. White, at [illegible] with the family on a visit [illegible] "that in the [illegible]

MAN INJURED.—A man who was employed at the cut in the bluff on the east bank of the river, being made by the Oregon and California Railroad Company, was caught in a slide of gravel yesterday and his shoulder bone on the left side was dislocated. He was immediately placed under medical treatment and was reported comfortable last evening.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—An inquest was held on the remains of Mr. Depenning last evening, by Justice Bull. The following gentlemen were summoned as a jury: J. A. Blanchard, A. J. Jeffrey, Nicholas Versteg, M. Eaton, John Simpson, W. W. Piper. After investigation the jury returned a verdict of death by the accidental caving of a bank.

A SCARCE ARTICLE.—Local items had an order from up country yesterday for an American flag, from 12 to 20 feet in length, full proportioned. Found stranger on same mission. No flags in the market for sale. Sorry spectacle, when Uncle Sam's emblems are so scarce. We felt some like the old lady who didn't know she was so near out of a bible.

PLEASANT.—The public of Oregon City paid their respects to the efforts of the Rector of St. Paul Parish on Wednesday evening, by a liberal turn out to an entertainment at the court house, for the benefit of the library of St. Paul's Church Sabbath School. We are glad to learn that the occasion was one of considerable pleasure to all present.

BUSTED OUT.—If we're incorrectly posted in regard to the fast sailor, double ender steamer Minnehaha, as to the wood business, it is all O. K. She came up yesterday having in tow a barge load of lumber from some point on the Columbia. We concluded that the wood trade had busted out, or else she was taking this lumber on the side.

ORIENT LODGE DELEGATES.—At the last meeting of Orient Lodge No. 17, held on Saturday evening, April 16th, the following gentlemen were chosen to represent that Lodge at the next session of the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows: C. L. Shepbard and John Kenworthy.

BEACHE'S BAND.—Beache's Band, and the steamer Carrie, took a large delegation over to Vancouver yesterday to attend the Territorial Republican Convention. They were principally delegates from all parts of the Territory, instructed to go for Mr. Garfield, who was renominated on the first ballot.

CHANGE OF OFFICERS.—Purser Stone, late of the Okanagan, has gone to Lewiston to take charge of the agency of the O. S. N. Company there. He is succeeded by Purser W. H. McDonald, and Purser Randall takes the position on board the steamer Rescue.

LABOR EXCHANGE.—During the week past the usual number of applications have been made at the Labor Exchange for situations. Farmers in want of any kind of help should address John M. Drake, Esq., Secretary, Portland, Oregon.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In Recorder's Court yesterday, three cases of assault and battery were tried, two of which were discharged. One larceny case was discharged. To-day one drunk and one assault will be examined.

ACCIDENT.—Some part of the machinery at Stimson & Rogers' mill in this city was broken yesterday, which necessitated a stoppage of work for the day. Damages will be speedily repaired.

AGAIN RUNNING.—The Milwaukie ferry boat is again running, the rope by which the crossing is made having again been placed in position. Trips were renewed on Thursday last.

OUT AGAIN.—The steamer Wenat is out again on her regular trips, in the line of the O. S. N. Company to Monticello and intermediate ports.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE.—The Senator yesterday brought a large number of manufactured bedsteads to this city from Salem.

NO STEAMER.—The Ajax due from San Francisco last night had not arrived up to the hour we went to press.

REFITTING.—Mr. W. F. Wilcox is rapidly refitting his place of business, recently destroyed by fire.

"NOTHING TO DO."—San Francisco and Sacramento are overrun with men who have "nothing to do," and in the former city an effort was recently made to establish soup houses for the unfortunate and indigent, but practical men discouraged the proposition as encouraging laziness, and the bottom fell out of the project. Why strong, able-bodied men will hang around cities in idleness, year after year, waiting for "something to turn up," is more than we can understand, when such quantities of good farming land is awaiting throughout the State to be tickled by the hands of industry that it may laugh abundance for the comfort and prosperity of man. Men who have settled down to the theory that they owe the world nothing and the world owes them a living anyhow, will not work, and are content to sleep around the wharves, and scratch stomach craving from lunch tables; but it is folly for those who are willing to work to stand in the streets of cities, hands in pockets, and complain of hard times. There are a certain class of men, intelligent, educated and industrious, who are totally unfit for city life, where they starve while inferiors, who know nothing but how to make money, accumulate wealth. To that class of "willing to work" men to which we have referred, we would say visit the rich farming lands around Antioch, and in the language of the San Jose Mercury if you cannot do better, buy or hire a single acre, build you a cabin of shakes and start a chicken ranch. There is money in it, health and independence. The best thing any poor man can do is to get possession of a piece of the soil. There is no man, in health, so poor, in California, that he cannot do this. You cannot expect work to come to you. You must search for it. Let the industrious visit this section of country, and make themselves homes.—Antioch Ledger.

A RAMPART OF THE DEAD.—Another charge soon followed, and was repulsed; but the rebels improved the opportunity to place a field-piece in position, so as to rake the crater through the traverse on the right. There was an open place at our end of the traverse about eight feet wide and four feet deep. A breastwork must be built across it, or all be lost. General Bartlette ordered a detail of colored troops for this duty, and they commenced throwing in chunks of clay, and, stripping the dead, filled their clothing with dirt. A few moments showed them that the work could not be accomplished in this manner. Some one cried out, "Put in the dead men;" and this suggestion was instantly acted upon. There were plenty of dead, and the men piled them across the gap as cord wood is piled. White and black, Union and rebel, officers and private soldiers, were heaped on top of each other, and formed a solid barricade of human flesh. Some of the working party were killed and their comrades threw them in with the rest. A dozen attempts to charge were made by the enemy, but none succeeded, till nearly noon, when they advanced to within fifty feet of us. A rebel mortar battery throwing ten-inch shells, opened fire, and after a few trials, succeeded in obtaining our range so well, that they dropped their shells directly into the crater. Every shell brought death and wounds into the ranks. Looking upward, we could see them coming, a little black speck; then heard them "wish, wish, wish," then a deafening explosion, and the men would be stricken down. The Major of a Maine regiment—a stout, portly man—was struck by a shell, and his head and neck severed clean from the body.—From "The Battle of the Mine," in Overland Monthly for April.

Idaho Republican Convention

The Republican Convention met at Boise City on the 12th inst., and after effecting a permanent organization, adopted a platform endorsing the Administration of President Grant, favoring a full maintainance of the National credit, protesting against the law passed by the last Idaho Legislature, allowing extra compensation to office holders, and complimenting Gov. Ballard as an able and fearless officer. Hon. T. J. Butler, of Owyhee, was unanimously nominated for Delegate to Congress.

A colored resident of Raleigh, North Carolina, who signs himself Friday Jones, calls upon the colored people of Alamance, Orange and Chatham to move into Wake, Johnston, Granville, and the lower counties of the State. He says "The Democrats seem to be determined to devour you, but do not leave the State. Come down here, and we can give you plenty of work."

PROF. JOS. R. WHITE will preach at Harmony Hall, First street, Sunday evening at 7½ o'clock. Subject—Light and Darkness, or, "If a man die shall he live again." Admission free; no collection.

The Republicans of Lane county held their County Convention on the 16th inst., and nominated a good ticket as follows: For State Senator, W. H. Odell; Representatives, Roscoe Knox, W. N. Luckey and Henry Luce; County Judge, D. W. Kisdon; Clerk, Joel Ware; Sheriff, John Vaughn; Assessor, William Crow; Treasurer, F. B. Dunn; County Commissioners, Wm. Smith and [illegible] McLaine; School Superintendent, Carter.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted. The nature of the ingredients is no mystery. It consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanative roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopoeia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative, and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded artificial heat of every kind becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in Hostetter's Bitters, which as a strength sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among officinal or advertised medicines.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increase. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and put on their guard against this practice.

Arching his neck and tossing his mane,
The war horse bears proudly a gallant knight;

M[illegible] is nearing, where swords fiercely gleam,
And the horses heed never the heel,
They rush to the fray like an angry stream,
Midst conquering shout and agonized scream,
And clash of steel upon steel.

And the evening bell from the tower tolls
As the sun sinks 'midst [illegible] hued clouds,
And the priests pray low for departed souls,
No song the home-going villager trolls,
And vultures gather in crowds.

Galloping madly, in desperate flight,
Nostrils distended, snorting with pain,
Riderless, masterless, wild with affright,
The charger returns alone from the fight,—
The knight lies dead on the plain.

Railroad Land Grants.

[From the Washington Chronicle.]

There is a great deal of senseless prejudice against land grants. Many suppose that when the Government gives a grant of land to aid in the construction of a railroad it in some way impoverishes the people and withdraws that amount from its own resources.

The truth is, the Government has already given away all the public lands under the homestead act. That act is a declaration on the part of the Government that it no longer expects to derive revenue from the public lands; that they have ceased to be part of the financial resources of the nation; and that the nation now simply holds the lands in trust for the settlers, until these latter shall move upon the lands, comply with the terms of the homestead act, and demand their patents.

In other words, the public lands are now a fund held by the nation in trust for the settlers. Any grants of land for railroads, wagon roads, or other public improvements are simply questions of the advantageous administration of the trust estate for the benefit of the settlers. It is evident that if such a grant will inure to the benefit of the settlers, by furnishing them access to the public lands, or by cheapening the cost of the transportation of their productions, then it is the duty of Congress to make such a grant. For, when Congress enacted the homestead law, she meant to give those who desire to settle on the public lands a real advantage, in the shape of homes, farms, society and development; she cannot carry out the spirit of that act if she simply points the settler to a vast and trackless wilderness, hundreds of square miles in extent, and tells him to bury himself in it at great distances from surrounding civilization, and there remain without the most remote hope during his lifetime of railway communication with the rest of the world.

The whole question narrows itself down to this: Is it the interest of the settlers on the public lands to have railroads.

This question may be fully answered by asking another: Is it the interest of the people of the United States to have railroads? Imagine, for one instant, New York and Pennsylvania returned to the condition they were in before the era of railroads, and you can form some faint conception of the condition of the sparse population scattered over the public lands, hundreds of miles from any market, with no means of communication but the lumbering wagon and the slow stage.

Hence the rule is universal that the people who are without railroads clamor for them. No instance has ever been known where the people of a new Territory protested against land grants being made to them.

The reason is self-evident.

In the West, if a man carries a load of wheat, by means of horses and wagon, ten miles to market, he will charge not less than five cents per bushel for it, or $2 for the load, weighing a little over a ton. Now, the ordinary railroad charge on freights is from 12½ to 13½ mills per ton per mile; this, for ten miles, would be about 13 cents. So that it costs the farmer $2 to carry in a [illegible] wheat that by [illegible] carry the same distance by rail for thirteen cents! In other words, transportation by wagon is fifteen times more expensive than transportation by rail; so that the same sum which is paid for the carriage of the [illegible] ten miles on the wagon will transport it fifteen times that distance by rail, or one hundred and fifty miles!

Hence we can readily understand why settlers on the public lands prefer to pay twice or thrice the price for land near a railroad, which they would have to pay for land ten or twenty miles from a railroad. They get back the difference in a year or two in the saving effected in the transportation of their crops. How often [illegible] towns, cities, counties, and even States tax themselves to [illegible] the construction of railroads; nay, more, in repeated instances, the farmers themselves have been known to mortgage one-fourth or one-half of their farms for the same purpose! Now it cannot be urged that these people do not know what is for their own interest. How many thousand settlers have preferred to take eighty acres contiguous to a railroad rather than 160 acres remote from it; believing, very justly, that one acre close to the road is worth more, and will yield more profit than two [illegible] from it!

There is another feature of this matter which must not be lost sight of. The construction of railroads induces the removal of vast sums of money from Europe and the older settled portions of the Union to the new and [illegible] regions. There it is distributed into a thousand hands, and it reappears in the shape of houses, farms, schools, churches, villages and towns. The men who [illegible] the road and lay the iron become, in [illegible] settlers upon the neighbor lands and so invest their earnings. Nor is this all; a thousand enterprises start up at the approach of the iron horse. [illegible] the woods are [illegible] and the timber cut up into lumber; manufactories are developed; great harbors are created, and prosperity is disseminated through the entire community.

We have a striking illustration of this in the young State of Minnesota. One or two years ago an almost unbroken wilderness extended from St. Paul northward to Lake Superior. Congress in 1865 granted lands to aid in the construction of a railroad through that region. That road—the Mississippi and Lake Superior railway—is now built for seventy-seven miles, and will be completed by the first of July next. What are the results? Capital, to the amount of many millions of dollars, has been carried from New York, Pennsylvania, and New England, and disbursed in that region. To-day, despite cold and storms, the company has over two thousand men at work at good wages. They have developed the finest and most extensive slate quarries in the world; they are penetrating great forests of valuable pine timber; they have given new impetus to the manufacture of iron and copper on the shores of Lake Superior; villages are springing up along the line of the road; population is flowing in; merchants, mechanics, and professional men are following in the wake of the pioneers, while at the lake end of the road a great city, Duluth—is being built up; [illegible] all the lakes, and one of the [illegible] and most commodious in the world, is being improved [illegible].

[illegible] the influence of such an [illegible] manufacturer of Pennsylvania [illegible] demand for his wares; the [illegible] of Minnesota will feel it in the [illegible] rates of transportation; the people of the [illegible] West will be [illegible] by the pine lumber [illegible] will soon be carried all over the country; the poor man in the West or in Europe has new regions opened to him for settlement; the rich man finds advantageous investments for his means.

Nor is this all. A great capitalist—Jay Cooke—was induced to embark some of his wealth in the construction of that road. Thereby his attention was attracted to that region, and he was thereby induced to take hold of the great Northern Pacific railroad, which is now in process of construction towards Puget Sound. Thus enterprise breeds enterprise, until there seems to be no limit to the capacity of growth and progress in the American people.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS.—Upon the first opening of the Pacific Railroad many persons expected to reap large profits from the shipment of California fruits to Eastern markets. These flattering anticipations were not realized, however. Last year the freight was $1,200 per car load, and after deducting the loss occasioned by wastage, there was no margin for a profit. Indeed every person who was engaged in this business lost heavily by the operation. In order to render this business even reasonably profitable, large freight deductions must be made. With freight at $500 per car load, a large traffic would be commenced. Without this, or some very material deduction in fast freight rates, the trade will languish and die.

DEMOCRATIC HONESTY.—Justice is sometimes blind in and around New York after all. Four canvassers and inspectors of election in Brooklyn were recently tried for altering the returns and miscounting the ballots with fraudulent intent. One of the Democratic "manipulators," a justice of the peace, was sentenced to ten days' imprisonment; another, a prominent Democrat, received three months in the penitentiary; another ten days in the common jail; and still another thirty days in jail. We doubt if such summary action could have been had had the trial taken place in New York instead of Brooklyn.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, April 21st, 1870.

Portland Legal Tender rates [illegible]

During the week the bark Whistler has arrived, bringing large stocks to our AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS. We note quite a number of Sweepstake and Challenger Threshers, also a large lot of Headers being discharged. Some fears are being entertained that the bark Ida F Taylor, now over 100 days out, will make a long voyage, in which case the large shipment of agricultural implements on her would not be available for the coming harvest. The stock of Headers thus far is scarcely up to the demand for the approaching season. Shipments of farm machinery to the Upper Columbia are becoming more frequent. We saw yesterday a very fine Thresher (Sweepstake) marked for Lewiston.

In HARDWARE, business has been very fair, prices ruling firm; no change in quotations. Buyers from the Sound and Walla Walla country are stocking up.

BUILDING MATERIAL is in better demand, with a tendency to firmness in prices. Bacons have declined. Lard quotations are quoted with a wide margin, according to quality. Ours have, hitherto, for some time, been rated by our report higher than the market warrants. Quotations to-day are current rates. SUGARS are in good supply and prices tend to a decline. BACON and LARD are firm at our figures, and the quantity on hand are scarcely adequate to the demand. Other produce unchanged in price.

Produce Receipts.

The produce receipts for the week have been as follows: 12,520 sks flour, 1,404 sks wheat, 1,520 sks bran, 722 sks feed, 47 sks oats, 240 sks middlings, 896 sks potatoes, 750 bxs apples, 151 hf bbls dried fruit, 486 bxs eggs, 149 gunnies bacon, 150 bbls meat, 72 bales hay, 14 bales tow, 556 reams, 22 cases lard, 54 cases butter, and 45 cases and 35 pkgs miscellaneous mdse.

Mining and Business Matters East of the Mountains.

A correspondent of the Walla Walla Union under date of March 30th, writing from Warrens Diggings says: "We are having some splendid weather at present; several have left town and gone down to the new discoveries to work at sawing lumber and building cabins. Ribey & Co. brought up some very good looking dust, that was taken out of Rich Gulch this winter, he had about $800 of the dust, which was paid out at $14 50 per ounce. Other parties leave to-day to prospect other creeks in that vicinity."

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Union Republican party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policy:

1st. Unfaltering devotion to the Union, first, last, and forever; and unwavering fidelity to the Constitution and its amendments, and to the laws of our National Legislature.

2d. We wholly approve the principles and policy of the administration of President Grant, as carrying into practical application the principles for which we have successfully striven. And we particularly commend these points in his Inaugural Address, wherein he declares—"let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public places, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world," and "I would protect the law abiding citizen, whether of native or foreign birth, wherever his rights are jeopardized or the flag of our country floats;" and "I will have no policy to enforce against the will of the people."

3d. We have confidence that the Administration will wisely and firmly protect the interests and sustain the dignity of the Nation in respect to other nations, and especially with regard to our just claims against Great Britain.

4th. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime,—and the national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the uttermost good faith to all creditors at home or abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted. And for this purpose, we favor a strict economy in the Administration of the National Government, and the application to such payment of all surplus revenue, from whatever sources derived; and that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.

5th. We make no distinction between citizens, whether of foreign or native birth; and that we sympathize now and ever with men of all nationalities striving for self government.

6th. That we are opposed to any change in our naturalization laws which shall admit to citizenship any foreigners not now entitled thereto under said laws.

7th. We favor a judicious system of railroad and river improvements in Oregon, in order to develop our resources and invite settlement of our unoccupied territory and for this purpose insist that Congress should make us liberal grants of aid.

8th. We are in favor of a tariff for revenue, with such discriminations in favor of our domestic manufactures as will not diminish its efficiency for the purposes of revenue.

9th. We favor universal amnesty to the people of those States lately in rebellion, which have been restored to full relations in the Union.

10th. We are in favor of fostering the cause of education, and are opposed to any diversion of the common school funds of this State to any other purpose than the support of common schools.

11th. We recognize in the Union Republican party the measures and men who saved the Government from destruction, and that its continuance in power is the only sure safeguard to national peace and prosperity. And with this platform we appeal to the voters of Oregon for their suffrages and support.

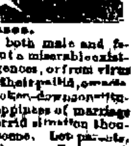
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

[illegible] loss, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual [illegible], is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific treatment, [illegible], which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible].

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies, should [illegible] [illegible] ability [illegible] upon [illegible] to obtain [illegible] [illegible].

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Patients at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.
